

Report on Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam

The Government of India has launched the noble initiative “Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam” to spread awareness about the importance of trees and to encourage every citizen to plant a sapling in the name of their mother. Following this vision, DAV Public School, Thane actively promoted the programme by organizing a tree plantation drive within the school premises.

Under this theme, a large number of students enthusiastically participated and planted saplings not only in the school premises but also in their residential areas along with their mothers. This unique bonding activity brought together families to contribute towards a greener and healthier environment. The moments of joy and responsibility were captured through photographs, which were later uploaded on the school website for everyone to witness and appreciate.

The programme turned out to be a huge success, receiving immense participation and appreciation. On this occasion, the principal madam addressed the teachers and students, emphasizing the importance of not only planting trees but also nurturing them with care and affection. She highlighted the need to form a lifelong bond with nature, encouraging everyone to treat plants as living companions and protectors of our environment.

The initiative left a lasting impact on the students, instilling in them a sense of responsibility towards the environment and strengthening the emotional connect between a mother’s love and the nurturing of a tree.
